WORKSHOP DESCRIPTIONS

Career Fair Success: Getting Started
What are you supposed to do at a career fair? Learn how to plan a strategy for the most effective and efficient use of your time at a fair plus how to craft an introduction that makes a good impression, what to wear, and how to follow-up.

Cover Letters: Getting Started
Wondering how to write an engaging cover letter? You'll learn how to weave together your strengths with specific examples to write targeted cover letters that emphasize your fit for the job!

Interviews: Getting Started
Interviews can be scary—especially when they include questions like the dreaded, “Tell me about yourself.” This workshop addresses general preparation, researching companies, what to expect, and answering behavior-based and other tough, important interview questions.

Job Search: Getting Started
Learn key strategies and tools for an efficient, successful job search.

LinkedIn: Getting Started
Not sure where to start with LinkedIn? We'll cover how to set up a basic profile and get started connecting with friends, colleagues and professionals.

Finding Internships: Getting Started
Join us to explore tangible strategies and resources you can use to find or create an internship that aligns with your interests. We’ll brainstorm barriers you might encounter as you search and methods for overcoming them. We’ll also share tips on how to successfully market yourself during the internship search process, and how to evaluate internship offers from employers.

Resumes: Getting Started
Need a resume? Not happy with your current resume? Don’t know where to start? Let us help! We will discuss format, style, and how to write a resume that best reflects your strengths and talents.

Gaining Experience Employers Want: Getting Started
Are you curious to know what employers are looking for in a future hire? Join us to develop strategies for finding unique experiences and developing the skills that employers want.

Resume Lab
We'll pick up where the 'Getting Started: Resumes' workshop leaves off with student-to-student resume reviews and guidance from the facilitator. Before attending the lab please view the Career Guide resume info or attend the 'Resumes: Getting Started' workshop. Bring a draft of your resume to the lab, and if available, a relevant job posting.

NOTE: Dates and times subject to change. Check careers.uw.edu/Events for the most up-to-date info.
Interviewing Lab
Be a standout to employers and tell them what they really want to know: how you are valuable to them! Learn how to highlight your strengths and demonstrate what you know about their company. We'll practice answering interview questions in small groups. Please attend the 'Interviews: Getting Started' workshop or review the interviewing info in the Career Guide prior to attending.

Exploring Strengths Lab
You keep hearing, “Employers need to know your strengths,” but think, I don’t even know my strengths! You’re not alone – employers say that up to 80% of candidates can't name their strengths and thus can't articulate their fit for a position. This workshop will help you explore your unique strengths/skills/talents and get an edge in securing the job you want. Come as you are—no preparation needed.

LinkedIn Lab
With 300+ million professionals on LinkedIn, of which 274K+ are Huskies, there are people all over the world to connect with. Learn how to create a profile that gets attention and connects you with future colleagues. If possible, bring a laptop or tablet to work on your profile.

Internships for International Students
Internships are becoming more and more important to students are emerging as critical experiences for internationals students in the global job market. Join us in this workshop to explore questions such as: What type of internship would be most beneficial for me? What exactly is CPT and how does that work authorization relate to internships? Does an internship have to relate to my major? What resources and strategies best lead to quality internships? You’ll walk away with a better understanding of how internships could enhance your Husky Experience.
